After going 23-7 and 14-4 to produce one of NCAA Division II's best turnarounds of the season, expectations are very high for head Coach Ron McHenry and the Lady Blues this season.

Washburn, which finished in second place for its highest finish in the MIAA since 1994-95 and earned its first postseason trip since that same season, enters the 2002-03 campaign in a different role for the first time since the early 1990s.

This season with four starters returning — including MIAA MVP Crystal Walker and first team All-MIAA pick Carissa Goeglein — the Lady Blues are No. 16 in the nation preseason and one of the favorites to challenge for an MIAA title.

"We have a great conference this year and I think their are a number of teams that can win the league and the regional," said McHenry, who is now in his third season at the helm. "Every year we've got to get better just to stay where we're at in the league."

Along with Walker and Goeglein, Washburn returns third-year starters at guard in Bethany McGraw and Kristy Chapman and four others who were big contributors from last season's squad.

Returners

The 2002-03 Lady Blues return 79 percent of their scoring from and 74 percent of their rebounding from last season's 23-7 regional qualifying squad. In all, four starters and eight letterwinners are back to help the Lady Blues contend for their first conference title since 1992-93.

"We've got a good senior layden group that has the experience from last season to fall back on," said McHenry. "We've got four senior starter who have been through this league and know what to expect. We know this conference will be very tough."

Crystal Walker, a preseason All-American from Osawatomie, Kan., enters her senior season in 21st place on the all-time Washburn career scoring charts with 783 points after scoring 487 points and adding 227 rebounds to earn conference MVP honors last season.

"When the game is on the line Crystal goes and gets it," said McHenry. "She is a determined player who will have another great year. She is tough to guard and is one of the best players and athletes in this league."

Carissa Goeglein, a senior from Yuma, Colo. via Western Nebraska Community College, burst on to the scene last season as a junior transfer despite playing an unfamiliar position in the post. Goeglein averaged 14.4 points and 5.5 rebounds a game to earn first team All-MIAA honors after playing mostly on the wing previously in her career.

"She's the ultimate team player who will do what it takes to win," McHenry said of Goeglein. "This year she has a chance to be even better because she's more comfortable in our system."

Senior guards Bethany McGraw of Manhattan and Kristy Chapman of Leavenworth will add even more experience and talent in the backcourt after starting the past two seasons for the Lady Blues.

McGraw has been the Lady Blues top ball handler and had a lot to do with last year's team success by being the squad's defensive stopper at guard. She dished out 67 assists a year ago and will be looked on as a team leader again this season.

Chapman has been a steady performer for the Lady Blues and is currently No. 24 on the Washburn all-time scoring charts with 718 career points. She led Washburn with 28 3-pointers last season and looks again to be the most consistent scoring threat from the perimeter this season. She also was the team's leading distributor of the ball, dishing out a team-high 85 assists last season.

Four more first-year additions provided valuable minutes of the bench for the Lady Blues last season. Senior point guard Gosia Czarnecka, along with sophomores Maggie Diehl, Lora Westling and Alison Garrett will see significant time again this season.

Czarnecka made strides in her first season at Washburn as a transfer from Barton County Community College last season. She hit 12 of 24 3-pointers and dished out 44 assists.

Garrett, a sophomore from Burlington, provided outside scoring off the bench and finished her first second second among all-time freshman 3-point shooters at Washburn with 24.

Westling came on the scene last year with a 19-point performance in her debut against Southwestern and continued to improve. The Casper, Wyo. native earned two starts and led Washburn newcomers with 4.1 points and 2.4 rebounds a game and could be the fifth starter this season and has the ability to play many positions.

Diehl added minutes in the post last season, averaging 2.6 points and 1.7 rebounds. The Topeka native enters the season as the top reserve inside player.

Newcomers

The Lady Blues have seven new players in the mix for this season, including two players who redshirted with injuries last season. McHenry's incoming class of freshman is very talented and versatile.

"Our newcomers will give some new looks and freshness," said McHenry. "They will definitely give us some options and will allow us to score in a lot of different directions."

Manhattan native Ineke Ingram and Lebo's Karen DeDonder redshirted with season-ending injuries last year.

Ingram was a highly-heralded recruit for the Lady Blues last season after earning all-state honors three seasons. She also participated in the KBCA All-Star game in 2001, before suffering a knee injury in preseason workouts last year.

DeDonder also garnered all-state honors at Lebo, where she led the Wolves to a 27-0 record and Class 1A state championship. She was out with a foot injury all of last season.

The Lady Blues also added three guards and two posts to the mix in last year's recruiting period.

Osborne's April Roadhouse, Baileyville's Jill Heiman and Independence's Erica Redman will all give immediate help to the Lady Blue backcourt.

Roadhouse was a first team Class 2A all-state selection and third team all-class honors last season after leading Osborne to state championship. She will be another primary ball handler for the Lady Blues in the near future.

Heiman also starred for a successful high school team at B&B Baileyville, earning all-state honors the last two seasons. She helped the Falcons to a 1A title as a freshman and a second place finish as a sophomore. She will provide versatility at the guard spots.

Redman helped Independence to the Class 4A state tournament last season, helping the Bulldogs to a 21-3 record while averaging 21.5 points and 4.7 rebounds. She hit 59 3-pointers last season to earn first team all-state honors and will provide an added perimeter scorer this season.

Two Topekans will add depth as freshman in the frontcourt for the Lady Blues. Seaman High standout Rebekah Mueller and Dani McHenry from Shawnee Heights bring solid high school resumes.

Mueller was a three-time all league, all-city and all-state selection at Seaman, where she helped the Vikings to a second place state finish at a junior. She will provide added scoring and rebounding from the post this season.

McHenry was also a three-time all-state selection at Shawnee Heights, where she helped the T-Birds to a third place finish at state as a junior. After finishing up the fall volleyball season she will join the team under her father's direction.

Outlook

For the first time in several seasons, Washburn is one of the favorites in the MIAA after finishing second in the league and making the regional tournament last season.

Making a conference title run and a return trip to the South Central Regional tournament definitely won't be easy after the Lady Blues thrived in an underdog role last season.

"We've got to be a little more creative this season and we won't be able to sneak up on people," said McHenry. "There are a lot of great teams in this league. Every year the MIAA beats up on the MIAA."

One change this season is the regional tournament. Previously only six teams were invited to the 48-team national tournament, this season the field will increase its size to 64 with eight teams advancing from eight regionals to make up the final Elite Eight. This season's Elite Eight will be in St. Joseph, Mo.

Reaching that point is an ultimate goal for McHenry and his team, but several difficult challenges lie ahead for the Lady Blues.

After opening the season with two NAIA in-state foes against Baker and St. Mary, Washburn travels to Springfield, Mo. to take on two teams that were regionally ranked last season in Drury and Cameron.

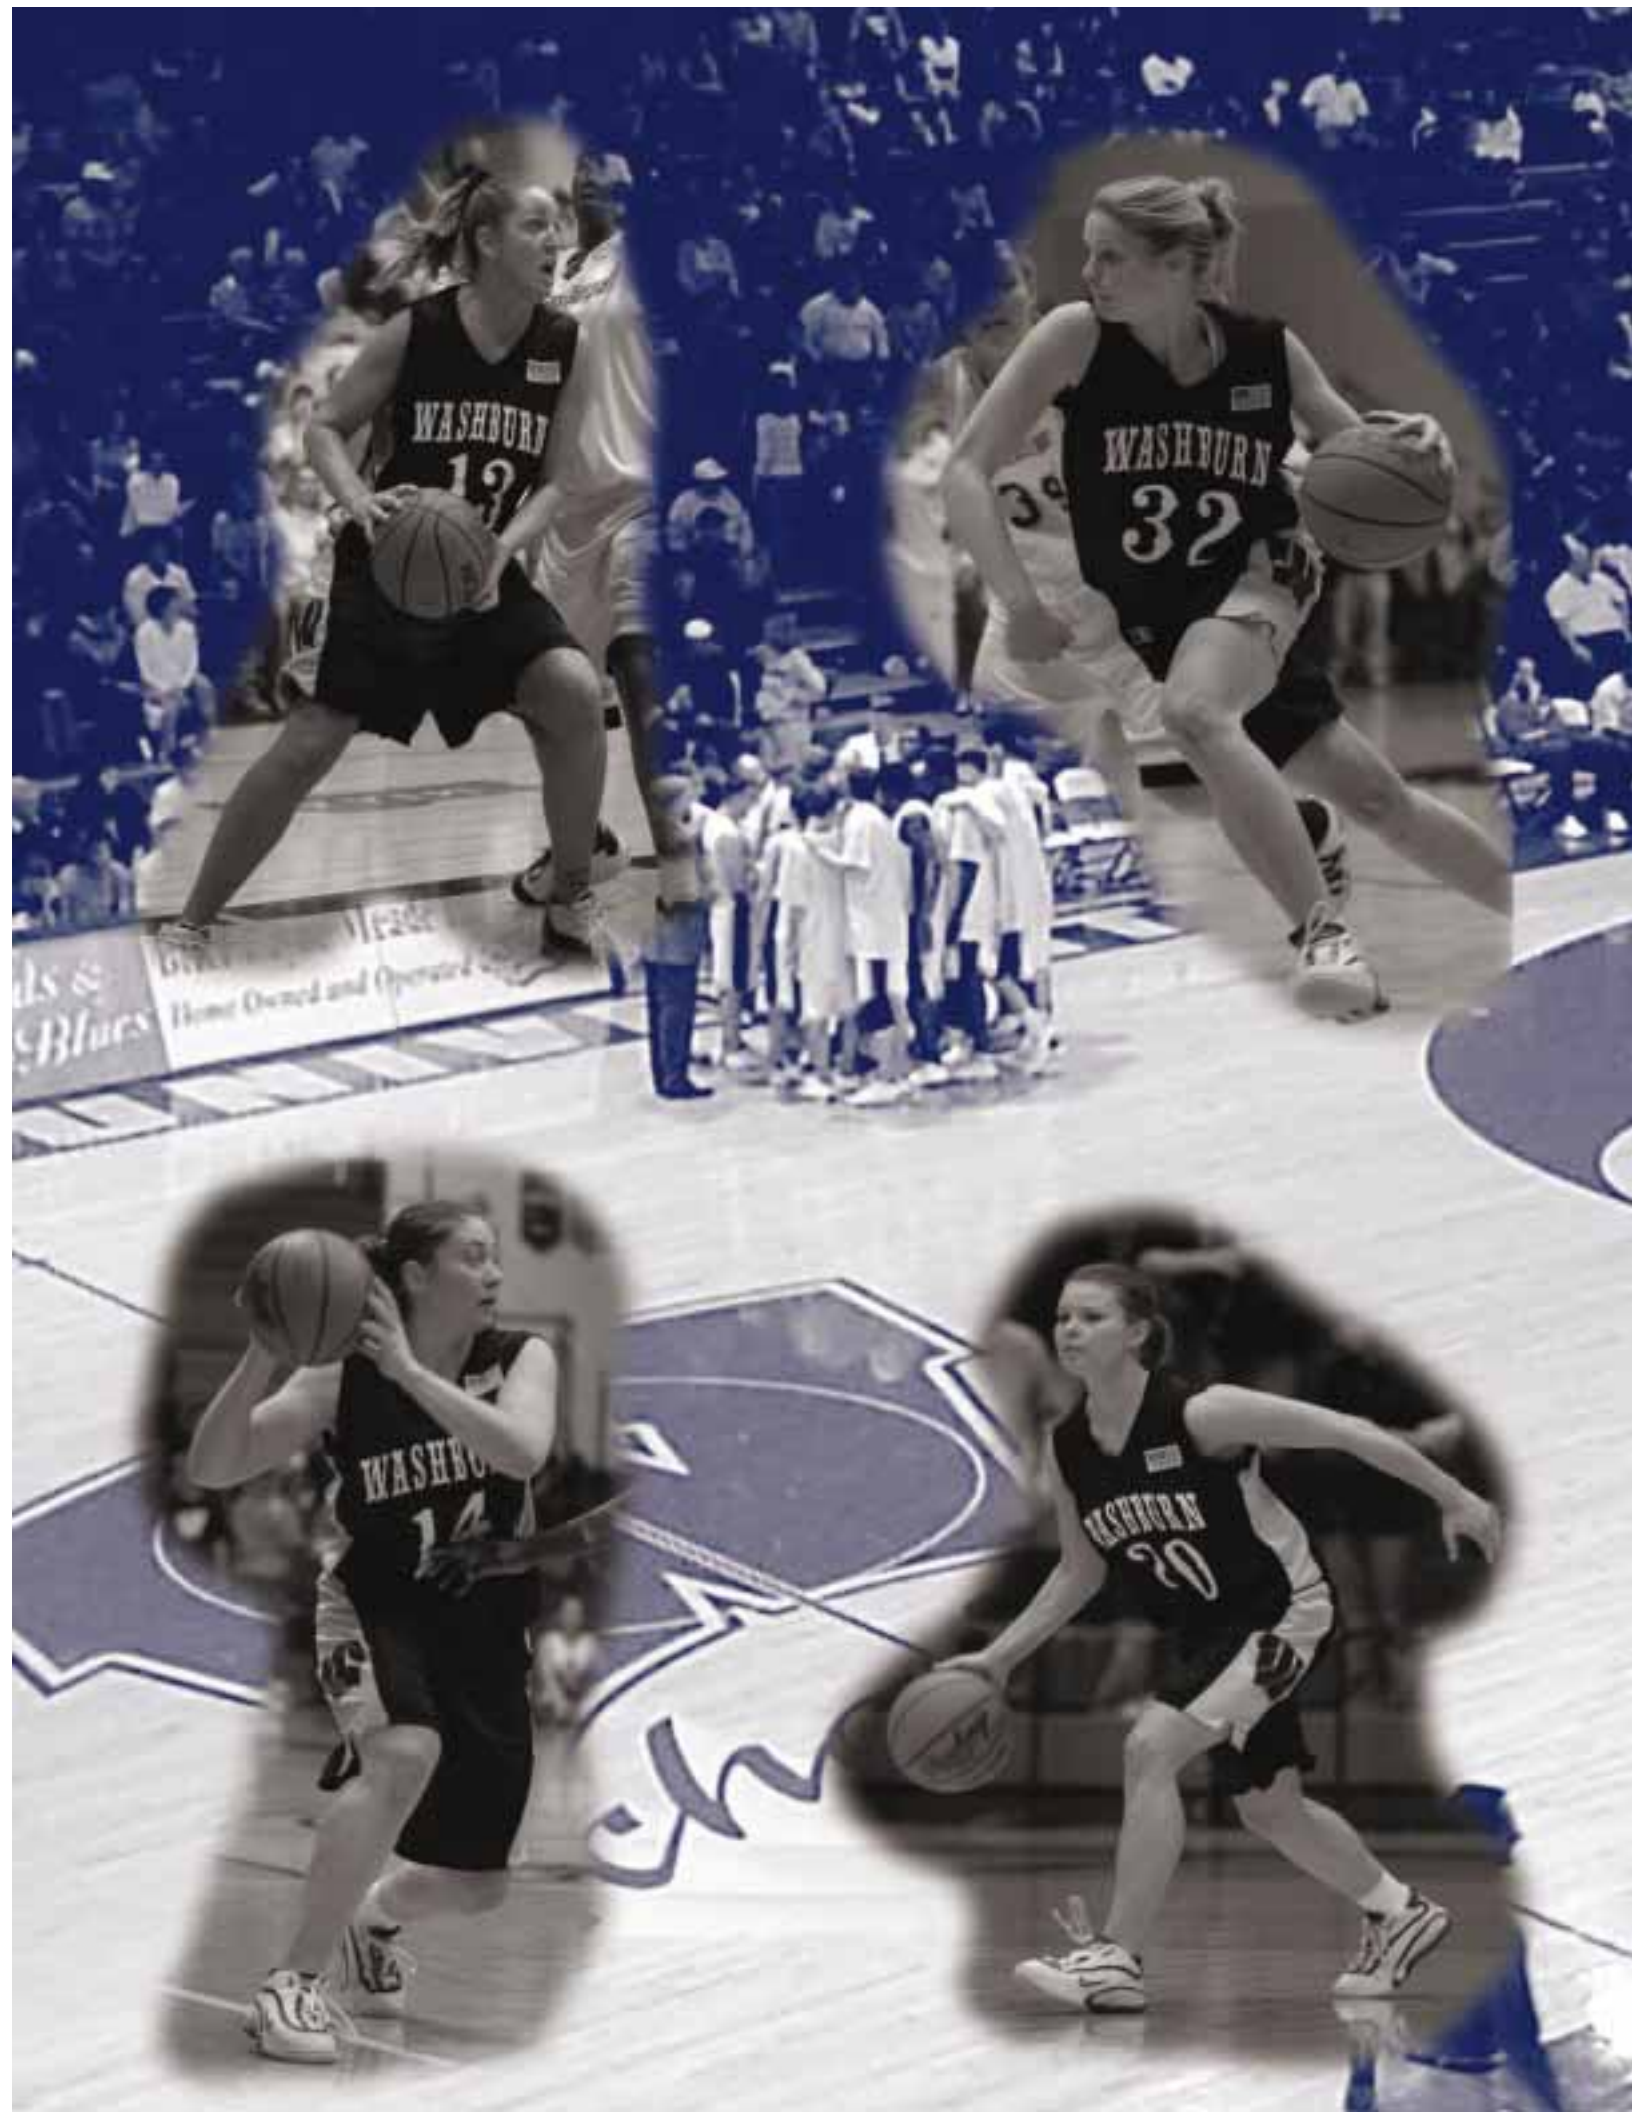

The road continues with some tough competition in Florida and two more home dates against Southwestern Oklahoma State and Rockhurst. Needless to say McHenry and his team have a heavy workload ahead.

"We've got a very tough schedule and have a chance to get some great wins," said McHenry. "Our ultimate goal is to get to the regional tournament and advance."
